THE NATIONAL CONGRESS.

THE WEATHER BUREAU TRANSFERRED TO THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Senate.—In the Senate to-day the bill to increase the efficiency and reduce the expense of the signal corps of the army was passed. The bill transfers to the department of agriculture the weather bureau, leaving the signal corps of the army to remain in the war department. The weather bureau is to consist of one chief and such civilian employees as Congress may annually provide for. The chief is to have an annual compensation of $4,500, and is to be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate. But the chief signal officer of the army may be detailed by the President to take charge of the weather bureau.

The enlisted force of the signal corps is to be discharged from the army on June 30, 1891, and such portions of the force as may be necessary shall be transferred to the department of agriculture. Skilled observers now serving in the signal service are to be prepared for appointment in the weather bureau. The signal corps is to consist of one major, four captains, forty mounted (and four first lieutenants) mounted with the pay and allowances of their grades in the army, and the enlisted force of the signal corps is to consist of fifty sergeants.

After a brief session the Senate at 4:15 adjourned until Monday.

House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—Immediately after the reading of the journal to-day the House resumed the consideration of the contested election case of Waddill against Wise.

Mr. Hanson, of Wisconsin, and Mr. Dabell, of Pennsylvania, spoke in favor of the contestant, and then Mr. Wise, of Virginia, took the floor in his own behalf.

After further discussion the vote was taken on the minority substitute resolution declaring the seat vacant, and it was defeated—yeas 119; nays 133.

The majority report declaring Waddill entitled to the seat was adopted—yeas 134; nays 120; and that gentleman appeared at the bar of the House and took the oath of office.

Public business was then suspended and the House proceeded to pay fitting tributes to the memory of the late James Laird, representative from Nebraska.

After eulogistic addresses by Messrs. Laws, Conger, Catebeon, Maish, Tarsney, Yoder and Connell, the House at 4:50 adjourned.

FOREIGN MERCHANTS PROTEST

Against the Passage of the McKinley Bill—They Claim it Will Danger Their Export Interests.

(By United Press.)

BERLIN, April 12.—The agitation initiated by French exporters in opposition to the enactment of the McKinley bill into a law, is being followed up in the commercial circles of this city. Berlin merchants engaged in the American exportation business are bending their energies to secure the rejection or modification of that measure. They argue that the passage of the bill in its present shape would strike a fresh and serious blow to German exporting merchants.

AN INVENTOR'S REWARD.

President Harrison Presents Him With a Medal.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Mr. Joseph Francis, the venerable inventor of the life saving car, was to-day presented in the Blue Room of the White House, by President Harrison, with a medal, especially voted him by Congress. The Blue Room was well filled by invited guests and by the friends of Mr. Francis.

Senator Evans made an address laudatory of Mr. Francis, after which President Harrison stepped forward and presented the medal.

THE ARMY.

A Proposition to Form a Regiment of Indians.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Secretary of War has under consideration a plan for raising a regiment in the regular army which will be composed of Indian soldiers, with Indians as non-commissioned officers, and the commissioned officers from the regular army.

A REMARKABLE FIGHT.

A Drive of Hogs Killed and Devoured a Heifer—Then a Herd of Cattle Killed ten of the Hogs.

(By United Press.)

COLUMBUS, O., April 12.—Near this city yesterday a lot of hogs set upon a heifer and a young calf and devoured them. In an adjoining pasture a drove of cattle became infuriated at the smell of the blood, broke down the fence and charged upon the hogs, killing ten of them and wounding many more.

Opposition to the Tax on Mexican Ore.

(By United Press.)

DENVER, Col., April 12.—A letter is being prepared which will be sent to the miners of the entire country. It opposes the placing of a tariff upon Mexican lead ore.

MR. RANDALL.

He is Growing Weaker—President Harrison Inquires After Him Every Day.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Dr. Mallan, Mr. Randall's physician, was seen by a United Press reporter to-day shortly before two o'clock and just after he had left his patient. Mr. Randall's condition, he said, was unchanged except that he was growing weaker. He takes nourishment and is partially conscious, and seems to know those around him when he is awakened to take his medicine or nourishment.

The house is besieged by friends, both social and political, but no one except members of his family is allowed to see him.

President Harrison calls every evening or sends to inquire after the sick man and keeps the sick room well supplied with choice flowers from the White House conservatory. Secretary Blaine also calls or sends to inquire after the patient daily.

"HERE'S A PRETTY HOW D'YE DO."

A Prohibition Council Cuts Down the Revenues of a Town—And then Resigns to Escape the Difficulty of Meeting Public Expenses.

(By United Press.)

WESTON, W. V., April 12.—A remarkable condition of affairs has been brought about here by the recent election. A month ago a prohibition council and mayor were elected. Their refusal to grant liquor licenses cut down the estimated revenue nearly thirty per cent. The town had made heavy contracts for lighting and improvements, and the prohibition council foresaw a heavy deficit. In order to escape the difficulty the entire council has resigned within the last two weeks, and nobody can be persuaded to fill their places. The town is without a government and without revenues, and meanwhile the sale of liquor goes merrily on.

THE STATE CROPS.

THE CONDITION OF GROWING GRAIN FOR MARCH.

Preparations for Planting, &c.—Ascertained by the Agricultural Department.

The Agricultural Department will next week issue the following summary of the March crop:

The winter just passed has been remarkable in that plowing could be done almost any week since last December. As a consequence the farmers have been able to accomplish better work in the way of preparation for the coming season than is usual. There was a greater acreage of wheat, oats and rye seeded than last year, and it went into better prepared ground. But for damage from spring frosts and from insects, these crops promised to be greatly above the normal yield.

Wheat.

The average condition of the entire wheat crop for March, as reported to this department is 82. This condition is low, and is to be accounted for by the damage resulting from spring frosts, and from the ravages of the Hessian fly and the wheat louse. The returns show that the acreage seeded was greater than usual, and is indicated at 108.

Oats.

The same conditions affected this crop, so far as the winter seed is concerned. The present average condition is reported at 80 1/2, and the same reports show that the crop was above normal, being estimated at 104.

Rye.

This crop has not suffered as much as the wheat or oat crops, and is reported at 92 1/2.

Orchards.

It is a little early to give a general average of the condition of orchards, or to indicate the probable results of the yield of fruit for the coming season; but judging from the reports, most farmers have ventured an unfavorable prediction, as the returns foot up only 72 for the state at large.

Preparation.

The condition of preparation for all crops is favorable, and shows that farmers took advantage of the open winter to put lands into first-class condition. The general advancement of the work is summed up at 103 all over the State. In some sections it is reported greatly in excess of these figures, but the tardiness of other parts of the country pulls down the average.

Clover, Meadows and Pastures.

The mild weather during the past few months has been favorable to clover and the grasses. The present average condition is reported at 100, while the same estimates show that more land has been seeded than usual, though the amount is not as large as was anticipated. The increase in acreage is indicated by 104, which means 4 1/2 per cent more than last year.

Insects.

Although complaint has been made of the ravages of insects from many portions of the State, only ninety-five correspondents out of nearly one thousand, state losses from that cause.—It is impossible to average the loss, except as shown by the reports on wheat and oats above, and much of that loss is reported due to frost.

Composts.

The interests in composts seems to be on the wane, as the average amount made this year does not reach beyond 90 in the scale of proportion, as estimated from the returns, though it must be admitted that the average for the year is very difficult to arrive at a true approximation.

FATHER CHARLES

Calls Boyle "A Vile Scoundrel" and a "Low-lived Priest."

(Concord Standard.)

CHURCH OF THE SACRED HEART, RALEIGH, N. C., April 7th, 1890.—EDITOR CONCORD STANDARD: DEAR SIR:—In the issue of your last Friday's paper you say that the ex-priest Boyle was taken to the Catholic rectory as my guest. You likewise made comments to the effect that this looked as if the church was shielding the criminal.

The STATE CHRONICLE, of this city, made a similar statement, but contradicted it in its Thursday's issue. I was afraid that Boyle would come to my house, and hence I hurried to the court house and hastened him at once to the train. Boyle never caught a glimpse even of the Catholic rectory, much less did he set foot into it.

I never had anything to do with Boyle excepting in my capacity of priest. I had met him but once previous to his imprisonment, and never was on friendly terms with him. I visited him in jail because I thought it my duty to do so and not because I cared particularly for him. I am glad that he has gone and breathe more freely since his acquittal. I feel that the State has been rid of a vile scoundrel and the church of an unworthy and low-lived priest.

Will you do me the justice to publish this letter in your next issue? Believe me respectfully yours,

REV. FATHER CHARLES, O. S. B., Pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Raleigh, N. C.

A Scandal Publicly Revealed.

(By United Press.)

WARRENTON, Ga., April 12.—In the trial of McGregor, for the murder of Cody, the State yesterday revealed the scandal which has hitherto been suppressed, though always privately disclosed. The fact was established that McGregor had accused Cody of criminal conduct towards a cousin of McGregor's, a married lady, and that McGregor had also been guilty of the same offense. The theory of the State is that Cody was killed to prevent the exposure of McGregor's conduct.

DURHAM DASHES.

A Conservatory of Music Proposed—A Mammoth Cotton Factory in Prospect—Personals, Etc.

CHRONICLE BUREAU, DURHAM, N. C., April 12.

To-day has been a busy day in our commercial circles. Our streets have been crowded all day with people from the surrounding country.

Dr. D. S. Hammon, the Russian opifician is at the Claiborne.

It is announced, sub rosa, that Durham is to have a music conservatory with Miss Lizzie Southgate at its head.

Those who went to Raleigh last night report a royal time.

Your correspondent was informed to-day that the Dukes intended building a mammoth cotton factory with a capital of two hundred thousand dollars.

The Whitted Tobacco Manufacturing Co. made a large shipment of chewing tobacco to-day.

The firm of Farthing and Dulce received to-day, over the Durham & North road, a car load of stoneware, jugs, jars, etc. The lover of the "little brown jug," must have been delighted to have seen so many.

Personals.

The many friends of Mr. T. C. Ellis, of Cedar Grove, will regret to hear that he is very low with remittent fever.

Col. John W. Hunsdale, of Raleigh, is in town.

H. A. London, of the Chatham Record, is on our streets to-day.

Dr. B. E. Dixon, of Oxford, is registered at the Hotel Claiborne.

Miss Phoebe Whitaker returned from Goldsboro this afternoon, accompanied by Miss Lizzie Dortch.

Miss Joe Batchelor, of the Orphans' Friend, is in town.

Arrivals at the Hotel Claiborne: D. S. Hammon, Fred R. Maxwell, N. Y.; Chas. Laude, W. H. C. Rose, W. B. Dupre, Baltimore; A. F. Bissell, T. H. McGowan, Philadelphia; R. Milton, N. C.; S. A. Strauss, Richmond; M. Jeffries, Chapel Hill; John W. Hunsdale, Raleigh; N. L. Jenkins, Henderson; B. E. Dixon, Mrs. Horton, Miss Joe Batchelor, Oxford; Dr. J. Watkins, city; E. B. Thompson, Washington.

A Meeting to be Held this Afternoon to Reorganize It.

A union meeting was held at the Wilmington Street Mission last Sunday afternoon. It was led by the Rev. L. L. Nash, having been specially called for the purpose of reviving the Young Men's Christian Association of Raleigh.

After some discussion by different gentlemen present, all of whom were favorable to the reorganization, Mr. Arthur Arrington offered the following resolutions which were adopted:

Resolved, First: That the Christian young men of Raleigh, inspired by the rapid growth and wonderful success of the Young Men's Christian Association in other states and cities, recognize it as their duty and are determined to unite their best efforts to reorganize and sustain the Association here.

Resolved, Second: That the leader be requested to appoint a committee to wait on the different pastors of the city and ask them to appoint from each of their churches a committee of three of their most intelligent and consecrated young men, to attend a meeting to be held on next Sunday afternoon, at five o'clock, at the Wilmington Street Mission, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization.

Resolved, Third: That the old officers are hereby invited to be present and lend their co-operation in the proposed reorganization; also each pastor in the city.

The chairman then appointed on the committee to see the pastors, Messrs. Arthur Arrington, S. J. Betts, W. B. Mann, W. L. Hill, J. D. Miller, and Len. H. Adams.

It is very gratifying to state that this preliminary meeting was characterized by great earnestness and enthusiasm and a determination to redeem Raleigh from the reproach she has incurred in neglecting so long to do her full part in what has been justly styled the "most wonderful movement of the nineteenth century."

AN ASSOCIATION THAT GOD WILL HONOR AND BLESS IN A HOME OF ITS OWN MUST hereafter be the watchword. Will the Christian men and women of Raleigh and vicinity join in this effort? We believe they will.

THE NORTH CAROLINA NEGRO POET.

Will He Enter The Contest For Congress In The Fifth District.

[Reidsville Weekly.]

James W. Poe, poet and politician of Lenox Castle, was shedding the beams of his intellectual countenance upon the Ethiopian population Saturday evening. Poe is both poetic and sympathetic, as was demonstrated six years ago, and is a sharp darkey, too. As yet he is an unknown quantity in the coming campaign, but when he lifts his telescope to survey the field he may see that he is the man to cook the goose of the Rev. Mr. Davis, the Guilford darkey who wants to run for Congress, and will bow to destiny. In such an event the district will be treated to a scene which will eclipse Brower and Settle's canvass—the side-show of the political circus. Imagine the scene. The poet and preacher locking horns over the question of who the colored man shall vote for—one of his race or the party which gave him his freedom. Tableau.

Dr. Hume, of the State University, has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address at the approaching commencement of Catawba College, May 22nd.—Newton Enterprise.

THE CONCERT.

THE HAPPY, THRILLING MUSIC AND THE SWEET SONG.

And Those who Produced Both—How the Entertainment was Enjoyed and Appreciated—Raleigh's Thanks to Durham's Talented Artists, and to Capt. Cunningham.

The rich programme of the concert given at Metropolitan Hall on Friday night, under the auspices of the King's Daughters, has been published.

It was rendered by musical artists from Durham, Richmond and Raleigh, among whom were Miss Lizzie M. Southgate, of Durham, Capt. Frank Cunningham, of Richmond, and Maj. E. J. Hardin and Mrs. J. J. Thomas, of Raleigh.

The first number on the programme was a piano solo—Rhapsody No. 12—Liszt—by Miss Annie Peay, of Durham. The very first touch of the keys by her was expressive and interpretive. The audience, which completely filled the hall was a cultured and critical one. They loved music and listened with absorbing attention, and when the last notes of the number died away, there was a burst of approving and appreciative applause.

But Miss Peay's greatest success was in the rendition of Home, Sweet Home, by Mazurka. The music was descriptive, and it was so expressively produced that the listeners easily read, with their minds, the incidents told in the language of music. The first strains evidently told of some one who was at home. He was happy in his surroundings, and in the fullness of his happiness he thought and sang of the unalloyed delight and pleasure of Home, Sweet Home. Then he went on a journey. Separated from that which he most loved and wished for, a feeling of longing and sadness stole over him; and then his soul went out in tender and pathetic expression as the thought of Home, Sweet Home came over him. Then a terrific storm burst over him while crossing the sea. The thunders crashed and the fierce wind shrieked through the rigging of the ship. Its ominous roaring was heard swelling louder and louder as its fury increased. Then it would go away, its roar decreasing as it went. It came again, howling and roaring and increasing the awful din by lashing the sea into a mighty rage. But amid it all, the thoughts of Home, Sweet Home came over the traveler and the sweet notes of the song, as he sang it, were continually heard above the crashing and raging of the storm. The tempest died away and the gentle echoes of the song, so pathetically sung by the weary traveler, yet stole with their pathos and sweetness through the calm air.

Such were the impressions of these who listened to the rendition of the music by Miss Peay. She is a young lady artist, less than fifteen years of age, and is a pupil of Miss Southgate.

Miss Lillie Parrish, aged twelve, Miss Mary Wall, aged thirteen and Miss Anne Watts, aged twelve, all rendered piano solos with a skill and technique that kept the audience in a state of delightful interest and wonder. More excellent execution and expression would not have been expected from professional pianists. Their pieces were not specially descriptive; but Miss Parrish's rendition of "Arabesque" was delightful. "Tarentelle," as expressed by Miss Wall, produced the impression that an enthusiastic old country dance was in progress, and it was exhilarating. The "Aveil Chorus" from Il Trovatore, by Miss Anne Watts actually and practically made many people in the audience rise from their seats and stand up. The dash and enthusiasm of the rendition were irresistible.

All these young ladies are the pupils of, and have had their entire musical instruction and training under Miss Southgate, who is recognized as one of the most accomplished lady musicians in the country. She is a graduate of the New York Conservatory of Music, and very recently great inducements were offered her to move to that city. Not more than a month ago she dedicated an offer of four thousand dollars per annum, and in addition, to this, she was offered fifteen hundred dollars per annum to become the organist of a church there. There are few ladies in this country who can command greater salaries than United States Senators, and Miss Southgate is one of them.

There is an almost indissoluble attachment between her and her pupils in Durham, and one reason why she did not accompany the New York offer was because she could not carry all her pupils with her. Twelve of them were ready to accept her and continue under her instruction there, but because all could not go, she declined the offer.

Capt. Frank Cunningham rendered the second number on the programme—a vocal solo—I Am Waiting. He has been to Raleigh before, and his sweet singing captured the people of the whole city. His strongest powers of song are the direct gift of Nature. No art could provide the power he has, and that power is felt and consciously and fully acknowledged by those for whom he sings. He sings because he loves it. It is his soul—his being—and his song is surely a part of Nature's best work. He was encored again and again. The audience could not hear him enough, yet they felt that they ought not to impose on the singer; but he responded willingly and gracefully to all demands and during the evening he sang no less than ten songs—all expressively and thrillingly. Among them were "If You Love Me Darling, Tell Me with Your Eyes," "Genevieve," "Marquette," "Swanee River," and "Knot of Blue and Gray." During the concert Capt. Cunningham expressed his appreciation of the reception by the Raleigh audience.

He visited the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind on Friday evening, and sang for the blind inmates there, who were delighted beyond expression. He left the city yesterday morning for Richmond, saying as he went away that of all places he had ever visited, he liked and loved Raleigh most, and there was now and then arising in his heart a wish that his home was here. Certainly he cannot feel more kindly to Raleigh than Raleigh does to him.

"Oh that We Two were Maying," a vocal duet from "The Saints Tragedy," was rendered by Maj. E. J. Hardin and Mrs. Capt. J. J. Thomas, of Raleigh. It was a most delightful number. More cannot be said. It was so much liked that a repetition was demanded and given.

Both Miss Southgate's singing and reading were delightful and beyond criticism. Her reading was "The Famine" from Hiawatha, and was given with such impulses as must have inspired the soul of the poet Longfellow, when he wrote his beautiful, pathetic and famous Indian story. The wail of lamentation, the calls of Minnehaha to Hiawatha, and their rolling, lingering echoes were given by Miss Southgate with wondrous effect.

Mr. H. T. Darnall was the accompanist for Miss Southgate while she sang "L'Incontro," by Ardit, and other selections. He is quite a young man, but his musical technique is superb, and if he shall make music his life's specialty, he promises to rank among the greatest members of the art.

All day yesterday, people were talking about the delightful entertainment, and this is the absolute evidence of its success.

RECEPTION AND DANCE.

At the close of the concert a reception was given by Mr. R. B. Roney at the Yarbrough House, complimentary to Miss Southgate and Capt. Cunningham. It included a sumptuous banquet, spread by Mr. Roney, in honor of the same lady and gentleman, and it was partaken of by two hundred and fifty guests. After the banquet, the great dining room was cleared and metamorphosed into a splendid ball room, in which dancing began, and lasted till four o'clock a. m.

The dance was participated in by a brilliant and gallant company, and was witnessed by very many interested spectators. The ladies of Raleigh were in full attendance. Among the visiting ladies dancing were noted: Mrs. Judge Brown, Washington; Mrs. Lewis Thorp, Greenville county; Mrs. Judge Shepherd, Washington, N. C.; Miss Lillie Roney, Kittrells; Miss Agnes Cotton, Washington, N. C.; Miss Sadie Cain, Durham; Miss Nellie Rice, Richmond; Miss Annie Cain, Durham; Miss Justice, of Charlotte; Miss Meta Capehart, Kittrells; Miss Maggie Watkins, Durham; Miss Bert Weston, Tarboro; Miss Florence Guernsey, New York; Miss Bloomfield, New York; Miss Lily Ruffin, Hillsboro; Mrs. W. W. Fuller, Durham.

There was never an occasion in Raleigh more richly enjoyed than this, and the CHRONICLE knows that Raleigh feels a loss for words to express its appreciation for the superb entertainment given it by its honored and distinguished friends.
